CLASS OF 1937

VOLUME FOUR

RAN.

Dedication

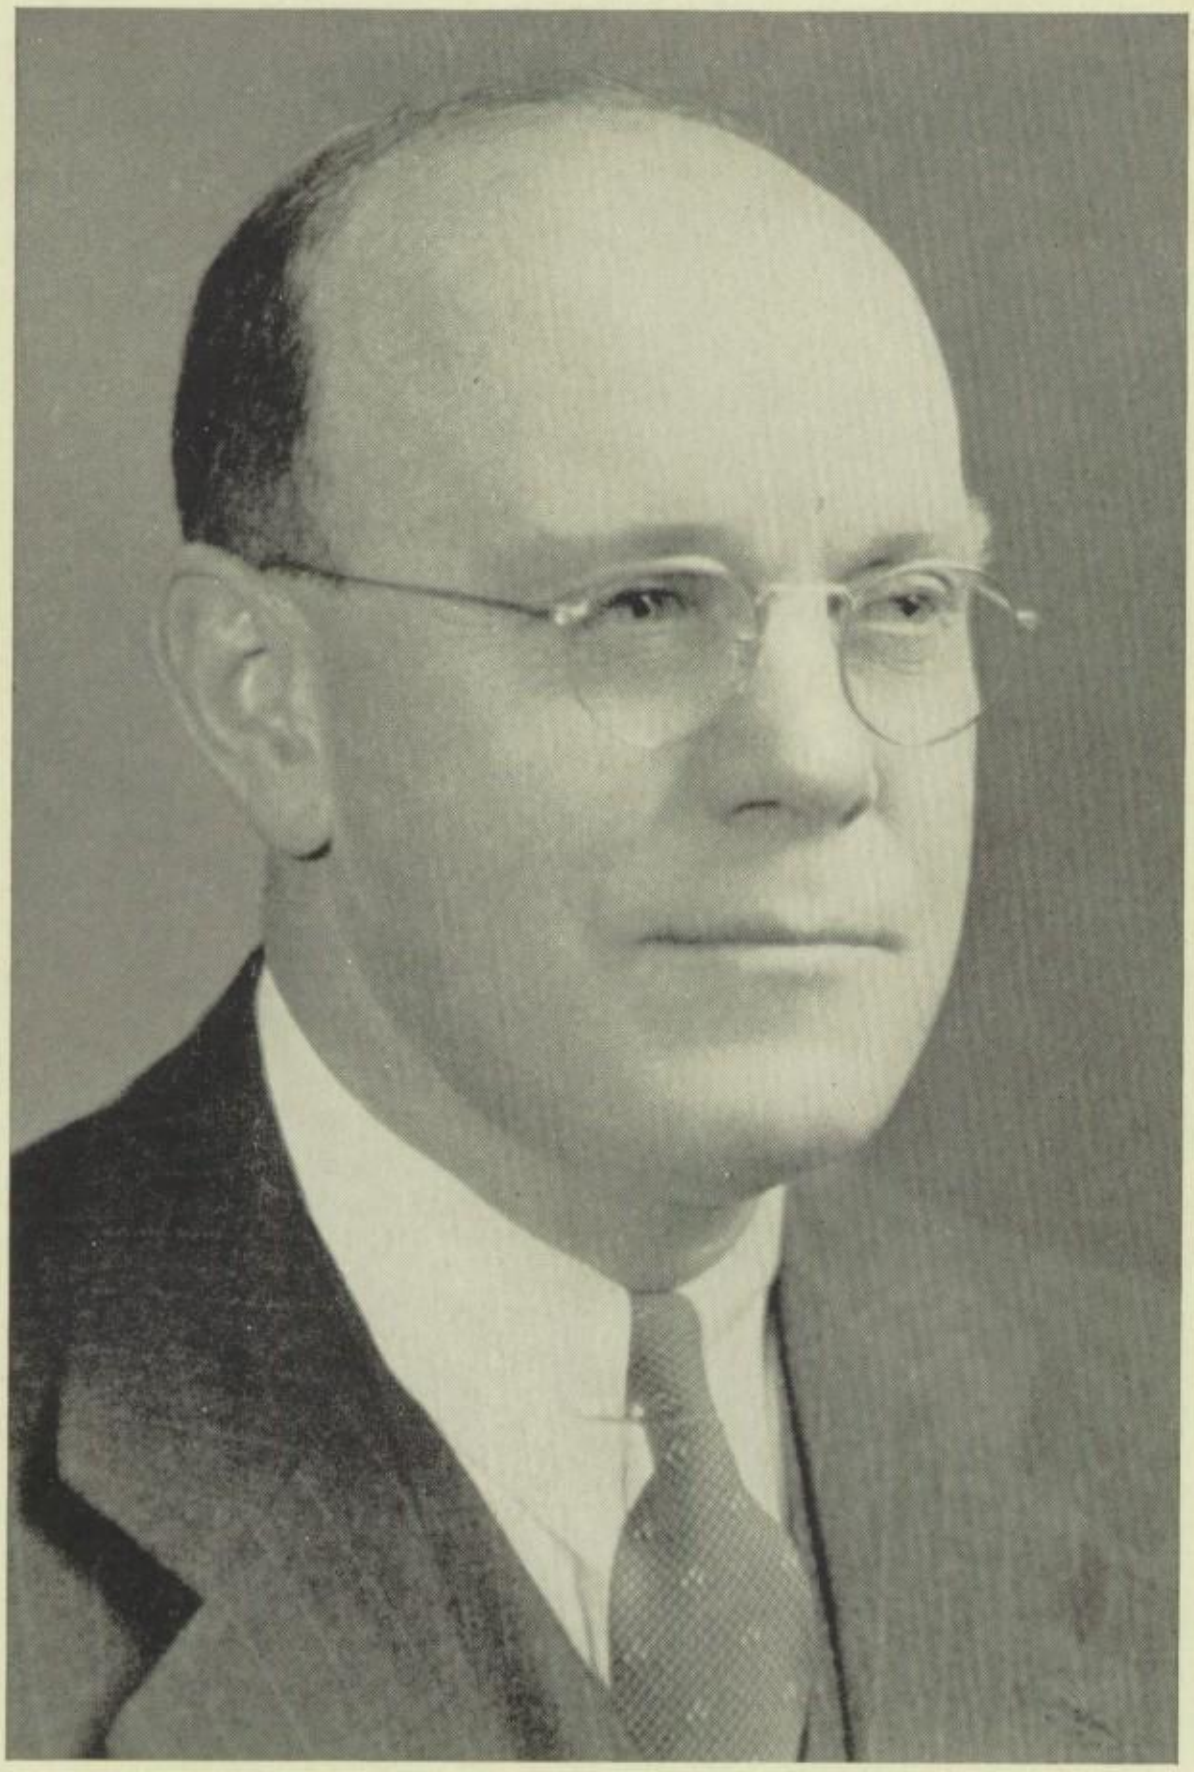
To Miss Smith:

Whose friendliness, cooperation, and tireless effort during these years as Class Chairman, has brought, in no small measure, success and happiness to the Class of 1937.

Appreciation

To Miss Barker:

For her patient, painstaking care in the gathering and setting up of material which has made the publishing of a Year Book possible.



Congratulations

To Mr. Swaffield:

On this his tenth year as Principal of Roger Ludlowe High School—for a leadership, an understanding, and a vision which have won our devotion and given our school its high place among secondary schools of Connecticut.

Official Log of The Good Ship 1937

September 1933, June 1934

We set sail for the Freshmen Sea from Port Auditorium in September with clear seas ahead; but, in accordance with our expectations on leaving the port, we were met by the oncoming waves from the fleet of the upper classmen. Because of the dangerous and unknown waters our crew was busy keeping the boat afloat. But as Christmas drew near we put into port and "went to town" under the able guidance of Miss Smith. By this time our crew working in good harmony was able to elect the staff. Captain—George Deyo, First Mate—Sam Wilson, Yeoman—Doris Hoskins, Paymaster—Betty Naramore. In order to show that our ship was up to standard we gave two assemblies, one in February and one in May. At the annual banquet where the girls are served by the boys, the Freshmen girls did their part by dramatizing the popular song, "Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Wolf". We concluded our first lap on this cruise to higher learning by buying a Fairfieldiana, the first Year Book ever to be published by the Roger Ludlowe Fleet.

September 1934, June 1935

We began our second lap with mutiny on board because of change in routine. Instead of seven classes a day we were to have six; but the mutiny was of no avail. As soon as we settled down, our officers were chosen to lead us through the coming year. Kalman Medve was Captain; Herbert Hoskins, First Mate; Victor Murray, Yeoman; Doris Hoskins, Paymaster. The next thing of importance was the buying of rings or pins with the ship's insignia; many responded. We began the year of 1935 by giving a dance to bring the sophomores together and put some spirit into our crew which seemed to be lagging. For the first time in the history of the Roger Ludlowe Fleet we inaugurated Freshman-Sophomore night by giving demonstrations of our dramatic ability.

We ended the year by awarding a prize to our shipmate, Marie Roxas, for improving the most during this lap of our cruise. The next thing we knew we had entered port and had started our vacation.

September 1935, June 1936

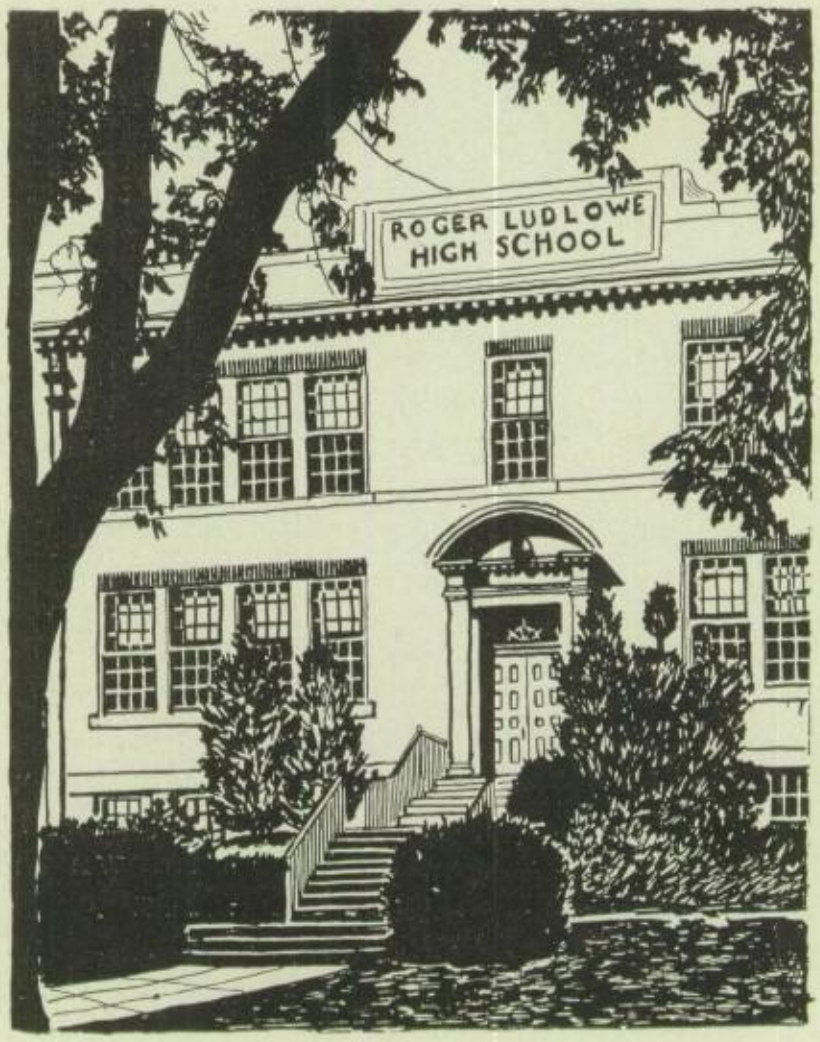
"All aboard—All aboard for the Junior Cruise", rang in the ears of the entering new upperclassmen. As soon as the boat left dock our honorable staff was elected. Victor Murray, Captain; William Duncan, First Mate; Kalman Medve, Yeoman; Barbara Fish, Paymaster. No storms, no waves, but aboard ship was hustling and bustling combined with complete harmony. We, the crew of the '37', began to feel important as we started on our money making campaign for our next year's cruise. We sold candy, pencils, feathers, and sponsored roller skating parties, movies, and a dance. We acquired a few extra dollars by winning a banking prize which was conducted throughout the whole fleet. As this was Connecticut's Tercentenary Year our fleet gave a pageant called "Uncoway" in which some of our jolly buccaneers participated. We were greatly honored by the attendance of Governor W. L. Cross. In rounding out the year we chose our senior council and future officers for the coming year. Ashore, we honored the departing seniors with a prom at the Ritz Ballroom. At last, with daisies, pastel gowns, and navy blue suits, we bade the dignified seniors adieu and started on our vacation looking forward to next year.

September 1936, June 1937

Led up the gang-plank by our officers, Captain—Kalman Medve, First Mate—Betsy Marden, Yeoman—Barbara Fish, and Paymaster—William Duncan, we immediately began to clear the deck for action. In order to round out our books we gave several roller skating parties, and sold tickets for the Komian Play. To relieve the tension of duty, we held our Senior Hop at Thanksgiving time. A short while later the hard working commercial students celebrated at a private party. The "Fox" received a little competition from the "Commercialite" published under the direction of Miss Barker. The Thespians won the highest honor at the Connecticut Drama Festival at Greenwich. In reward for this they participated in the New England Festival at Pawtucket, R. I. As long as the Freshmen, Sophomores, and Juniors were having parties the Seniors, too, had to have a fling at the new styles of dancing. So we ourselves had a merry party. Then came several of the most important affairs of our four years sailing—the election of the National Honor Society members, the publishing of our extra-special Year Book, our Banquet, and the Junior Prom.

Then, last but not least, came something which everyone of our crew had been looking forward to, our Graduation, with the Junior girls in their flowery array, decorating the passage. The seniors walked down the gang-plank with the saying "Sink or Swim", revolving in their minds.

Edith Huenerberg,
Jean Fishman.



Another June has come at last
Unlike the ones before,
For on our life at Fairfield High
We soon must close the door.

No longer shall the halls ring out
Our merriment and cheer,
With aching hearts we'll venture from
This place we love so dear.

But though we sadly leave the rooms
Where many were the joys,
We hope to face the days ahead
With dignity and poise.

We won't forget your guiding hand
As years go winging by,
We'll still have faith and trust in you
Dear Roger Ludlowe High.

WILL
37

Class Will

We, the Class of 1937, Roger Ludlowe High School, Town of Fairfield, County of Fairfield, State of Connecticut, U. S. A., still being of sound mind and body after having withstood periods one through six inclusive for four years, now come to the grave realization that our moments are numbered, and feeling that our many virtues need not be extolled, our standard cannot be surpassed, and our intelligence cannot be overrated, dispose of our possessions, worldly and otherwise:

First: To the School Board and Superintendent goes our heartfelt appreciation of all the privileges we have enjoyed during our sojourn.

Second: To Uncle Joe we leave another trusting group of nieces and nephews to guide, to help, and to perfect.

Third: To our ever helpful assistant principal, Miss Johnson, we bequeath an all-enduring friendship.

Fourth: To the faculty we leave the problems and vicissitudes of bringing up adolescent youth.

Fifth: To Miss Barker and Miss Smith we leave two pairs of roller skates and a private instructor. We also include two cushions.

Sixth: To the Class of 1938—the warning!!! You've got some shoes to fill.

Seventh: To those up and coming underclassmen we bequeath for their own benefit an unlimited supply of growing pills.

Eighth: To brother Stanley, Arthur Ardell bequeaths the honor of upholding the traditional Ardell athletic prowess.

Ninth: Maurice Batterson leaves his standing position at Miss Barker's side to a worthy commercialite.

Tenth: Ann Coolbaugh may now become the possessor of Jean Pettigrew's haughty demeanor.

Eleventh: Gordon Otis leaves his hereditary ear-muffs to Virginia Smith so she, too, will not hear jokes she cannot understand.

Twelfth: Margie Norton's ability to follow "When work and pleasure crash, let pleasure go smash" is left to Margaret Tranberg.

Thirteenth: James Andrews' "certain something" we leave to two or three Juniors as those numerous characteristics will probably never again be found in one individual.

Fourteenth: In the "Jazz"—etur of the school we leave the highest place for Loren Sherman.

Fifteenth: Betty Ward bequeaths her knitting needles to Mr. Webster that he may not be at a loss when conducting "Fox Staff" meetings.

Sixteenth: We leave that contagious grin of Gladdie Thorpe to Kay Shay.

Seventeenth: For the benefit of the "Babes in the Woods" we leave the hope that some enterprising Junior will wield the pen of Dorothy Dix as well as Betsy Marden has.

Eighteenth: George Deyo bequeaths to John Van Buskirk the secret of his success with the fairer sex.

Nineteenth: Dot Davis' power to remain true to an already graduated "one and only" is willed to Ruth Hogenauer.

Twentieth: To some deserving Junior we leave Oliver Stendahl's ability to leave class for "class work."

Twenty-first: Nina Sorokoff's inexhaustible supply of laughter is left to Grace Ruskay.

Twenty-second: Frances Florenzie's and Doris Hoskins' knack of always looking sweet goes to Mercedes Flynn.

Twenty-third: To Peter Swing in the Freshman class we bequeath Gladys Ballog's husky, contralto voice—but Peter, keep your accent.

Twenty-fourth: Vincent Scott leaves—to some worthy beneficiary two desks—one to sit at and one to pile his "junk" on.

Twenty-fifth: Virginia Sherwood's fussing, fixing, finagling, and flippancy we leave to Tweedie Badeau.

Twenty-sixth: The neat coiffure of Marie Schwarzkopf is bequeathed to Doris Hill.

Twenty-seventh: "Boo" Fish and Kal Medve leave their joint leadership qualities to Ginny Gamble and Ed Bodine. We hope you'll do as good a job.

Twenty-eighth: To next year's rifle team we will the hope that they will have a match.

Twenty-ninth: Betty Schmaling's generosity is to be passed on to Kay Chambers.

Thirtieth: Eleanor Seres, with that well-known chuckle, leaves her scholastic standing to be upheld by sister Edith.

Thirty-first: To Joe Marko and Martha Hamilton we leave the very clever artistry of Ruth Nichols.

Thirty-second: Jean Fishman's always helpful and friendly attitude is bequeathed to Ginny Gamble.

Thirty-third: Norman Locke leaves to Ralph Wainright, Janet Kellogg to keep and preserve for the ensuing year.

Thirty-fourth: To the Thespians we leave the hope that they will repeat or better the record of this year's troup.

Thirty-fifth: George Becker's side-show guffaws and ineffectual wisecracks are bequeathed to John Storrs.

Thirty-sixth: To Ralph Hurd, Jr. of the Sophomore class, we leave Herby Hoskins' tennis laurels.

Thirty-seventh: To Millicent Scott we leave Mary Sleszak's friendly and cooperative spirit.

Thirty-eighth: To any up and coming taxidermist, Bob Moffit leaves the score of dead starlings that he left in Eddie Gendron's rumble seat last month.

Thirty-ninth: Virginia Porter and Vic Murray leave their rendezvous—any quiet little nook where you may while your time away during spare moments of the long tedious sessions to two appreciative Juniors.

Fortieth: For the benefit of Lorraine Walker's future in theatricals, Bill Potter wills her a taller leading man.

Forty-first: To any underclassman with the aspiration toward loquacity, Coleman Alexa bequeaths his little book on "Public Speaking in Ten Easy Lessons" with, however, these warning words, "It ain't done me no good."

Forty-second: To Bill Slater we will a pair of sneakers to aid him in digging up "dirt" for his column.

Forty-third: Dave Stender and Eric Danielson appropriate a sum of money sufficient for a down payment on a car (or what have you) to some youthful pedestrian to avoid the temptation of hitchhiking and its consequences.

Forty-fourth: Billy Daniels on nature's behalf leaves Jackie Bischoff his adorable laugh.

Forty-fifth: Edith Huenerberg regretfully bequeaths her numerous Girl Scout Awards to Ruth Calvin.

Forty-sixth: To Doris Donnelly, Lillian Gaudreau wills a companion to take her place.

Forty-seventh: To anyone who desires or thinks he will benefit by them, William Seckle leaves his communistic tendencies.

Forty-eighth: To George Bissell we leave Ernie Boda's "morning chatter."

Forty-ninth: To another musically inclined beneficiary, Donald Owen leaves his rhythm.

Fiftieth: We leave Charlotte Ward's trucking to any or all who wish to take up the practice, but we don't think Charlotte's entertainment can be beat.

Fifty-first: Virginia Rodgers leaves her dramatics to Barbara Shaughnessy.

Fifty-second: To any girl who can qualify, Goldie Pecenye leaves her ability to either win or lose gracefully.

Fifty-third: To Jackie Mitchell we leave Milton Bassett's college strut.

Fifty-fourth: Francis Mesko's solemness and Harriet Shellenberger's timidity are bequeathed, respectively, to Jean McCarthy and Jesse Sherwood.

Fifty-fifth: Eve Hiller leaves her distinctive up-to-the-minute hairdressing (it changes with the wind) to Nat Bradley.

Fifty-sixth: To Genevieve Knox, we leave Etta Salko's incessant babbling.

Fifty-seventh: John Feeney and Bob Mory bequeath their places as Miss Miller's stooges to some young artists.

Fifty-eighth: To those who can understand it, George Sedgwick leaves his surrealistic da-da-ism.

Fifty-ninth: To Claire McLaughlin, we leave Eugenia Starzyk's quiet but devilish doings.

Sixtieth: Dotty Copeland's ability to pester Miss Barker is left to someone who will not use it to such a great extent.

Sixty-first: Stanley Kozlowski cheerfully wills a bigger, better, and safer smoking corner—just a gentle hint.

Sixty-second: To Clarence Offeney we leave Charlie Klein's ability to play the piano and organize a first class orchestra.

Sixty-third: To Julius Olah, John Kulikowski bequeaths his basketball honors.

Sixty-fourth: To Fred Dubie, Archie McKeon leaves his rank of highest letterman.

Sixty-fifth: Doris Skoog's ability to be seen and not heard is willed to Susan Caroli.

Sixty-sixth: Mary Thomas leaves her many endeavors to sway the opposite sex to Gertrude Whaley.

Sixty-seventh: Agnes Carroll, alias "Irish", leaves her cheerful sentimental characteristics to Lois Weising.

Sixty-eighth: To Janice Bradley, we leave Jean Waterhouse's fashionable wardrobe.

Sixty-ninth: To Eddie Oakley, we leave Hobart Corwin's handy briefcase. We feel it has served its purpose.

Seventieth: Ruth Bull leaves her lovely collection of hand knitted sweaters to Doris McLaughlin.

Seventy-first: That cute, flirtatious senior, Doris Johnson, leaves her coy methods of obtaining admirers to Bumps Havey and Dotty Morin.

Seventy-second: To some envious underclassman, we leave those fascinating curly eye-lashes of John Sherwood.

Seventy-third: Alex Nagy, our romantic poet, leaves his knowledge of love to Charles Ames.

Seventy-fourth: To Nancy Perkins and Eleanor Ward, Jean Lowe leaves her sophistication,

"Despite my demeanor, you can see
I'm not all I'm cracked up to be".

Seventy-fifth: The carefree, evident good-nature of Billy Burgess goes to Jane Connors.

Seventy-sixth: To Florence Fishman goes Jane Smith-Petersen's sarcasm and uncalled-for wise-cracks.

Seventy-seventh: Virginia Beardsley leaves her maidenly blush to her antithesis, Polly Clark.

Seventy-eighth: To Donald Lobdell, we will William Smakal's "little boy" tendencies.

Seventy-ninth: Sally Fomhof bequeaths her pleasant manner of speaking to sister Faith.

Eightieth: Billy Duncan leaves his cheery greetings to Teddy Barber.

Eighty-first: Julia Mellish (she ought to be an author with the stories she makes up) leaves her ability to do so to some other prevaricator.

Eighty-second: To a worthy junior girl, we will Helen Johnson's winning personality and position as first feminine Senior Council president.

Eighty-fourth: To Sarah Ann Phillips, Bee Bernstein leaves her position as class fashionplate.

Eighty-fifth: The position as a first-rate typist is bequeathed by Mae Chellgren to Cornelia Domonkos.

Eighty-sixth: To the 1938 Football Team, the passing members of this year's squad leave their cherished memories—their winnings and their losings—all in the spirit of good sportsmanship—knowing that the succeeding team will uphold its glories.

Eighty-eighth: The members of the National Honor Society having reached the heights of scholastic rating and leadership leave the hope that the organization will be enlarged in the future.

Eighty-ninth: To Jack Laur we leave Fred Deyo's trumpet and along with it his musical ability.

Ninetieth: Edwin Faulkner leaves his ability to charm the ladies to Rufus Baker, but keeps his position as one lady's man.

Ninety-first: Margaret Ecsedy and Shirley Zehnder bequeath their ability to "smile and be glad; to quarrel and be sad" to Lucille McKie and Edna Shannon.

Ninety-second: To John Parkermege goes Helen Ryzak's gullibility.

Ninety-third: To a person who is "always helpful and really sweet; the type of a person you like to meet" we leave all of Betsy Marden's remarkable qualities.

Ninety-fourth: Betty Naramore leaves her individuality to Nancy Bulkeley.

Ninety-fifth: Ray Hanke bequeaths his cloak of many moods to George Roberts. P. S. Wake up and live!

Ninety-sixth: To Robert Belknap, the 6th period English Class leaves a secluded study corner so that he may sleep undisturbed.

Ninety-seventh: Harold Rommel leaves his Dentyne smile to Louis Canaiy.

Ninety-eighth: To tom-boy Ellen Barber we will Sis Saum's amusing frankness.

Ninety-ninth: To "Pop" Whittaker we leave our sympathy—we're afraid you're going to miss us.

One Hundredth: To Miss Veckerelli we leave an everlasting cure for laryngitis.

In witness whereof, we set our hand and seal this seventh day of May in the year of our Lord one thousand, nine hundred and thirty-seven.

FUTURE

Class Prophecy

"And so, ladies and gentlemen of the radio audience, if you are ever troubled by headaches, sore throats, rheumatism, corns or callouses, try "Potter's Pain Expeller". It never fails. This is your announcer Edward Gendron bidding you good evening for our sponsors. At the sounding of the gong it will be exactly 11:30 P. M. Locke watch time. WKKK Rommel Radio Center, Fairfield."

11:30! We wouldn't even have time to tune in on Billy Daniels, the "Town Tattler" before racing off to "Denters 7-11 Club" on an assignment of writing up the notables present at the opening of Fairfield's newest "hot spot".

Fortunately a Costello Cab was standing in front of the hotel. We asked the driver to rush us to the Curtis Building at the corner of 47th Street and Beardsley Avenue. Strange how many friends had opened business in this building! The Feeney-Schmaling Posy Shoppe on the ground floor was flourishing splendidly under the capable hands of its manager Dorothy Jackson. The Ballog-Balint and Barker Employment Agency, the Kadlecik-Kish-Kratky Biscuit Company, and the Faulkner, Florenzi and Rutkin Marriage Bureau occupied offices on the fourth, fifth and sixth floors respectively. Fishman Theaters, Inc., shared the thirteenth floor with the Burgess Travel Bureau. The Allard, Mory, and McKeon Company, photographers and artists now under contract for "Vogue", kept open office on the seventeenth floor. Jean Lowe and Virginia Rodgers, internationally known interior decorators, just back from England where they had redecorated the castle "Utopian Retreat" for Duchess Elizabeth Naramore Smith-Pottersby, had leased the twenty-fifth floor for the ensuing year.

As we neared the roof, which the club completely occupied, the smooth, lilting strains of Charlie Klein's orchestra floated down to us.

Then—finally—we were entering the famed "Crystal Room," studded with sparkling, merry groups of people. The lights were low and a floor show was in progress. Mary Firtick and Alfred Pedersen, having just returned from Italy where they gave a command performance for Dictator Mussolini, were dancing the present rage the "Eccentric".

Catching sight of Sara Jennings, eminent Parisian dress designer, and Edith Huenerberg, head of the New York Customs Office, flirting outrageously with two handsome West Point Officers, we rushed over and greeted them enthusiastically. How chagrined we were when, upon being introduced to their escorts Vincent Scott and Nicholas Stassola, we failed to recognize them!

Immediately accepting Sara's invitation to sit down, we began asking questions about the whereabouts of some of our former classmates. Milton Bassett, editor of the "Bassett Chronicle" in Miltonville, Connecticut, was in Spain acting as special correspondent for his own paper. He was getting the Senoritas' angle on what the Spanish situation was still costing them. Helen Johnson was the first woman Ambassador to Great Britain. Ruth Bull, Doris Johnson, and Martha Cheney were members of the musical show "Corwin's Cuties Review" now on tour through the southern states. George Deyo, matinee idol working for Wittig Studios, was vying for the Academy Award with James Andrews currently appearing in "Gone With the Bride", a best seller written by Betsy Marden, Nobel Prize Winner, and adapted for Politi Pictures by Soledi and Sherwood. Peggie Logie and Jean Waterhouse were playing Broadway in "Redheads on Parade". Mary Jane Hall had recently been appointed President of Mount Holyoke College. Clarence Johnson was organizing unions for Trumpeters and Milkmen. He had recently acquired the flourishing milk business built up by Wade and Larson. Coleman Alexa was the town's best and most reasonable mortician.

A sudden hush had come over the assembled guests and all eyes turned toward the entrance. Beatrice Bernstein, acknowledged by all as the best dressed woman on the stage, was making a very effective entrance in her stunning Fomhof-designed gown. Miss Bernstein's escort was Lionel Booth, her publicity manager.

"Look!" Edith exclaimed, "Isn't that Herbert and Doris Hoskins sitting with Governor and Mrs. Medve?"

"Why, yes! and did you know that Herbert is to be the next U. S. Attorney General? That Doris is the editor of "Fairfielder" and that Mrs. Medve, the former Barbara Fish, is to continue as Prima Donna in the Gamache Opera Company?"

A slight commotion at the next table drew our attention. Mr. Arthur Ardell, president of the "Tastewell Puppy Biscuit Co.", was just seating Berneice Knapp his private secretary. The ex-Mrs. Ardell, Shirley Zehnder, was now touring the Mediterranean Lands with Margaret Ecsedy, Frances Gabicki, Anna Gade, and Valeria Gura.

A loud guffaw, accompanied by hysterical, infectious giggles caused many a head to turn. Mary Thomas, nurse at Sedgwick Sanitarium and George Becker, interne, were apparently making "very merry" on their night off. Jean Nichols, Bernadette Swords, and Peggy Swanson plus three rowdy sailor lads, Dave Stender, Charlie Weems, and Joe Kulikowski, were chaperoning Mary and George.

At another table Victor Murray, Chief of Police, was being feted at a stag party. Albert and William Seckel, Frank Sebestyen, Henry Skiba and Louis Vince represented the Fairfield Bachelors' organization. Alex Nagy, Louis Nagy, Thomas Neverdousky, and Zoltan Maylak of the married corps were kidding Victor about his coming marriage to Virginia Porter, radio blues singer. The great event was to take place the next day and was to be performed by the Very Reverend Fred Deyo. After the ceremony the Murrays were making a non-stop flight to Honolulu where they would visit Wesley Clark, Gunnard Johnson, John Kulikowski and Fred Burnett engineers for the Maleski Contracting Company.

Jane Smith-Petersen and Norman Morse comedians just back from Hollywood were being honored by Betty Ward, Muriell Smith and Helen Evans, teachers at the New "Davis School for Girls". In the same party we recognized Scribner Brown, James Correll, and Wallace Bidney, news commentators for the Fitzpatrick Soap Program.

Not yet satisfied we scanned the crowd at the further end of the room. Here we recognized Alma Mielka, Lucille Brazis, Marie Roxas, and Lucy Nemeskay employees at the Saum-Molocko Beauty Shoppe. They were being escorted by the professional football players William Duncan, Matthew Bobowick, and Francis Mesko. Samuel Wilson, manfacturer of "Wilson's Family Orangeade" was sitting disconsolately in one corner. He was probably mourning the absence of his very dear friend Marjorie Norton. Miss Norton was to start for home from Germany on the "Graf Hanke" America's newest and fastest dirigible when she had completed her studies in Chemistry at the Schnee Polytechnic Institute in Frankfurt.

Helen Jones, the young lady you hear every morning over the "Carroll Cut-Rate Hour" keeping time while you do your daily exercises, appeared extremely fascinated by what Maurice Batterson claimed were the essentials for mastering the violin. Marcia Anderson, debutante and Hollywood extra, home for a visit, was deftly applying a fresh coat of lipstick before her newest heart throb Bookie Kenneth Faulkner reached her table. Charlotte Gilbert and Nils Skog were gazing open mouthed and wide eyed at the intricate stepping of Charlotte Ward, "trucking" sensation. Herb Cunningham proprietor of the swanky "Get Your Money's Worth Tonsorial Parlor" was leaning back in his chair looking over the guests with a superior expression on his face. He was surrounded by Beatrice Barnes, Catherine Benham, Betty Bonney and Lucille Dunn, who were anxiously waiting for Herby to continue with his story of the German Fraulein whom he met while on a trip to Germany.

Among the couples whom we recognized "tripping the light Fantastic" were champion golfer Julius Boros and Mae Chellgren, Joseph Chueka and Barbara Ference, Edward Eckert and Dorothy Copeland, John Boscomb and Natalie Colonnese, Stanley Kozlowski and Mary Slezak.

Harriet Riker, Marion Robertson, Elvira Seaquist, Eleanor Seres, Harriet Shellenberger, Eugenia Starzyk, and Rita Kokosky, chorines in "Blondes Prefer Gentlemen" were entertaining those brave, brave, G-Men out on a spree—Donald Owen, Gordon Otis, Nick Matiuck, Norman Parker, Oliver Stendahl, and Michael Wanat.

James Moore, Principal of Ludlowe Junior High School, entered with Doris Skoog and Louise Smythe co-assistant principals. Jean Pettigrew and Ruth Nichols were avidly discussing the merits of the prize John Sherwood Art Gallery.

Here and there groups were already leaving the club. We too arose, tired from an exhausting day of reporting everything from the burning of Thorpe Lodge and Fire Chief Sheldon Morris's heroism, to the birth of twins to the former Julia Mellish, one time Olympic Basketball Champion. At some later date Julia would appear for an interview on the "Merritt-Sochacki Aspirin Hour".

At the door we turned once more to look at the familiar faces of our classmates, some of them for the last time. With the scene vivid in our minds, we once more descended to the street. Slowly and unwillingly we started away from the building. Yet we felt that our visit here had not been in vain.

The fourth year of the Theater Club has proved to be very successful. This year most of the time was devoted to the study of puppets. Several interesting meetings were arranged during which the club members made puppets under the supervision of Miss McLaughlin, the club adviser. Mr. Humphrey Doulens, the "Bridgeport Post" dramatic critic, was a guest speaker at one meeting.

Officers: President, Betty Ward; Vice President, George Deyo; Secretary, Betsy Marden; Treasurer, Herbert Hoskins.

Smith, D. Smith, P. Smith, Stevens, Thibault, Thomas, Todd, Webster, Wheeler, Yates.

The Sophomore Dramatic Club under the faculty supervision of Miss Olmstead gave seven plays and four monologues at its eight meetings throughout the year. At one of the most outstanding meetings, Mrs. Bellah gave a talk on "Drama in the Scandinavian Countries" and traced the history of this art far back. She also told many amusing anecdotes of her own career. This has been a very successful year in the club and as a fitting climax it once more joined the freshmen in their annual Freshman-Sophomore night.

Officers: President, James Evans; Vice President, Jack Hawkins; Secretary, Barbara E. Jones; Treasurer, Beverly Meder.

This year the Junior Red Cross has made an effort to stimulate interest among the high school students in the great work of the American Red Cross. Among the definite things accomplished have been the making of albums to send abroad; the filling of Christmas bags with toys and candy for the needy; and the raising of money, to send to people in the distressed flood areas. The officers were: President, Betty Ward; Secretary, Polly Warren; and Treasurer, Sally Fomhof.

The Social Service Club has endeavored to uphold the high standard of service and good will which it has always maintained. The members, made up of Senior girls, were very ably spurred on by Miss Ruth Hall, faculty adviser.

The club very willingly and spontaneously met the needs of families at Thanksgiving and Christmas time. During the flood disaster, the Social Service Club joined forces with the Junior Red Cross and obtained much needed financial aid for this great cause.

Officers: President, Sara Jennings; Vice President, Marie Schwarzkopf; Treasurer, Jean Waterhouse; Secretary, Jeanette Horvath.

Second Row: Dunn, Rutkin, Bonney, Beardsley, Ward, Johnson, Sherwood, Taylor, Correll, Thomas, Colonese.

Members of Le Cercle Francais, the French Club for those who have taken three years of French, met this year under the direction of Miss Masse. The purpose of Le Cercle Francais is to become more familiar with the French language and customs, an aim achieved by conducting all business in French, playing French games, singing, if possible seeing a French moving-picture, and patronizing a French restaurant in New York.

Officers:

President ..... Marcelle Bouchard

Vice President ..... Herbert Hoskins

Treasurer ..... Marjorie Norton

Secretary ..... Doris Hoskins

La Branche Cadette

Second Row: Reed, Caserta, Blanche Burden, McMahon, Linley, Hanzakas, Troland, Kellogg, Macklin.
Third Row: Jones, Smith, McKenna, Henneniger, Patterson, Rzepko, Renzulli, Devore, Borsody.
Back Row: Schurk, Foster, Gamache, Kingman, Pease, Shannon, Whaley, Chaplinsky.

This year the members of La Branche Cadette enjoyed their meetings playing French games and working out French crossword puzzles, which proved both entertaining and instructive and for which prizes were awarded to the winner. In addition songs were often sung and a puppet show was presented.

The French Parliamentary procedure was used to conduct the meetings and the program chairman aided in providing the entertainment.

Officers:

President ..... Barbara Burden

Vice President ..... Fred Porter

Secretary ..... Cornelia Domonkos

Treasurer ..... Marion Heiser

Beginners' French Club

BEGINNERS' FRENCH CLUB

First, Row, left to right: Bradley, Brittingham, Coville, Howe, Hall, R. Porter, Flynn, Bunting, Yates, Nichols, Miss Garafola.
Second Row: Katona, McArthur, Hogenauer, Fishman, Ryzak, McGovern, Carioli, Merrill, O'Connell, B. A. Jones.
Third Row: Epifano, Meder, Miller, Fitzpatrick, Burr, Rugg, Smith, Boucher, Badeau, Cooke, Pinckney.
Back Row: J. Porter, Fosdick, Miller, Johnson, Smith.

During the year of 1936-37 the Beginners' French Club entertained its 41 members with many new and exciting amusements. A play "Paris Interlude" was one of our most expert performances along with our interesting reports on France and its Frenchmen. Many humorous French anecdotes and records increased the knowledge of our eager and enthusiastic members.

Officers: President, Richard Porter; Vice President, Anne Hall; Secretary, Mercedes Flynn; Treasurer, Barbara E. Jones; Scribe, Betty Bunting.

Last Row: Z. Maylak, E. Taube, E. Faulkner, C. Benham, L. Smythe, A. Ardell, N. Sorokoff, E. Seres, C. Siebert, O. Stendahl, F. Burnett, M. Chellgren, V. Gura.

The Commercial Club was organized this year by Miss Elaine Barker, faculty adviser. It was formed for the purpose of education and enjoyment.

During the year we have had several speakers, a Christmas party, and an amateur hour, all of which were very successful. A new project was the publishing of the magazine, "Commercialite," edited by Alex Nagy. This magazine was published twice with many of the students participating.

Officers: President, William Seckel; Vice President, Constance Rose: Secretary, Lucille Brazis; Treasurer, Charles Klein.

Junior Commercial Club

Second Row: Farrell, Troll, Stasolla, Robac, Horvat, Ryzak, Daly, Daley, Turner, Orosz, Dorothy Gerathy, James Giordano.
Third Row: Solivoda, Hulsten, Kish, Knox, Stanley, Trupp, Royak, Chaplinsky, Zsampar, Prochaska, Donald Gerathy.

The Junior-Sophomore Commercial Club has had an enjoyable and profitable year under the very able leadership of John Towler, as President; Martha Gavitt, as Vice President; Cornelia Domonkos, as Treasurer; and Millicent Scott, as Secretary. Entertainment and program committees outlined the activities for the year.

The Senior Commercial Club graciously invited the Junior-Sophomore one to take part in working on its magazine, its Christmas party, and its amateur program. The Club reciprocated, by entertaining them with three short sketches depicting the model prospective applicant for an office position. Attractive pins with the inscription F. H. S. C. C. were purchased by the members. Discussion of the proper dress and manner for office girls proved helpful. The ever-popular spelling-bee also exercised its influence.

Miss Brigham was the faculty adviser.

Third Row: Locke, Faulkner, Kay, Senger, Belknap, Sherwood, Larson.

The Camera Club was formed a year ago for the students who were interested in photography as a hobby. The program committee, the chairman of which was Charlotte Ward, secured Mr. Talmage, Mr. Leach, and Mr. Blade, who spoke to the members of the club telling about their individual experiences in photography. Mr. Lees has met with the club twice—once giving a demonstration of developing and printing in the school dark room, and at the last meeting taking the club members to the Bird Sanctuary to make some outdoor pictures.

At each meeting the members submitted pictures taken by them on various designated subjects.

Officers: President, Lionel Booth; Vice President, Norman Rutkin; Secretary, Jean Pettigrew; Treasurer, Charles Smith. The club was under the direction of Miss Donaldson and Miss Phelps.

The Safe Drivers' Club, although it has only recently been organized, has a membership of over 150 students.

Its aim is to acquaint the members with traffic laws and safe driving practices, thus helping to prevent the far too many accidents now occurring on the highways.

Different activities during the year have included: a talk by Officer Buckley of the State Police; a demonstration of the safety features of the new 1937 car; projects developed by the club for highway safety one of which was a traffic model which portrayed road conditions and driving techniques; a Highway Safety Poster contest, and an accident survey, showing danger spots in Fairfield. The club has also participated in the activities of the Junior Traffic Commission, consisting of students from high schools of Bridgeport and vicinity.

Members include students both with and without licenses.

President: Fred Dubie; Vice President: Kalman Medve; Secretary: Betty Bunting.

Debating Club

First Row, left to right: Mr. Harper, Gilberti, F. Deyo, Bassett, Schurk, Kinsman, Norton.
Second Row: Porter, Faulkner, Morris, Seckel, Boyle, Goodnow, Hawkins.
Back Row: Ames, Andrews, Nagy, Hoskins, G. Deyo, Feeney.

The debating club has participated in several debates, one with Staples High School, and others at the club meetings. The subject of the Westport debate was Public or Private Ownership of Electric Utilities. Those who debated here were William Seckel, Kenneth Faulkner and James Andrews for affirmative. The negative side, debating at Staples included Herbert Hoskins, Fred Deyo, and Jack Hawkins.

Most of the meetings of the Debating Club are spent in informal discussions. This type of meeting permits each one in the group to join in the discussion and gives the group the benefit of many opinions. Some heated arguments take place during the meetings at which Mr. Harper, faculty adviser, officiates.

Officers: Milton Bassett, President; and Betty Schurk, Secretary-Treasurer.

Fourth Row: Pornelli, Thompson, Garamella, Wittig, Micket, Krygier, McBride, Marky, Brunori, Price, Makuarich, Picard, Sherwood, Norton, Gilberti.

The Girls' Home Economics Club has attempted at its monthly meetings to promote interest in the unique preparation of common foods, attractively served. It has had several food demonstrations to bring out this point. The clothing group has attempted to learn some of the fundamental everyday sewing tricks, through actual practice on garments in the meetings.

The final objective of the club was to plan and prepare an assembly program. A committee wrote a fine play which introduced a very gay fashion show displaying garments, all made by the clothing classes in the Home Economics Department.

Boys' Cooking and Sewing Club

Back Row: G. Johnson, Lutinski, Feeney, Burgess, H. Reynolds, Czire, Bolic, R. Johnson, Kish, Scott, Klein, Batterson, Kosmia, Sylmanski, Collins, Minalga, Byron, Todisco, Gallagher, Klupsak.

The Boys' Cooking and Sewing Club aims to bring before its members an idea of the Home Economics field open for men. Some of the techniques of cooking, like those used in making pastry, and of sewing, such as darning socks, are taught to help errant bachelors over a few hurdles. The programs are designed to appeal to the interest and imagination of the boys.

More power to them for the foresight and courage to invade this hitherto unexplored field!

Back Row: Solivoda, Gavitt, Sides, Stanley, Donnelly, Sirois, Patterson, Henninger, Pease, Smirnoff, Treadwell, Daly, Okenquist.

The Modes and Fashions Club organized this year for Junior girls was a great success.

At each meeting something of interest was taken up. At one meeting "Grooming" was the topic, at another "Personality," for which a self-analysis test was given. Another meeting was devoted to a talk on the "Proper use of Make-up" by a representative from Max Factor.

Every meeting was well worth the time because it gave to the girls useful suggestions on their personal appearance.

Fourth Row: Bublat, Rovizzi, Cataldo, Sileo, Grywalski, Griffin, Fazekas, Bradley, Middlebrook, Caplette, Fomhof, Stevens, G. Lane, D. Lane.

The aim in the Modes and Fashions Club has been to help develop better personalities. Throughout the year the members have had several personality tests. They have stressed good grooming, the acquisition of poise, and the proper dress for every occasion. In addition to discussing new trends in the present day fashions, the club has arranged clothes budgets for the average high school student.

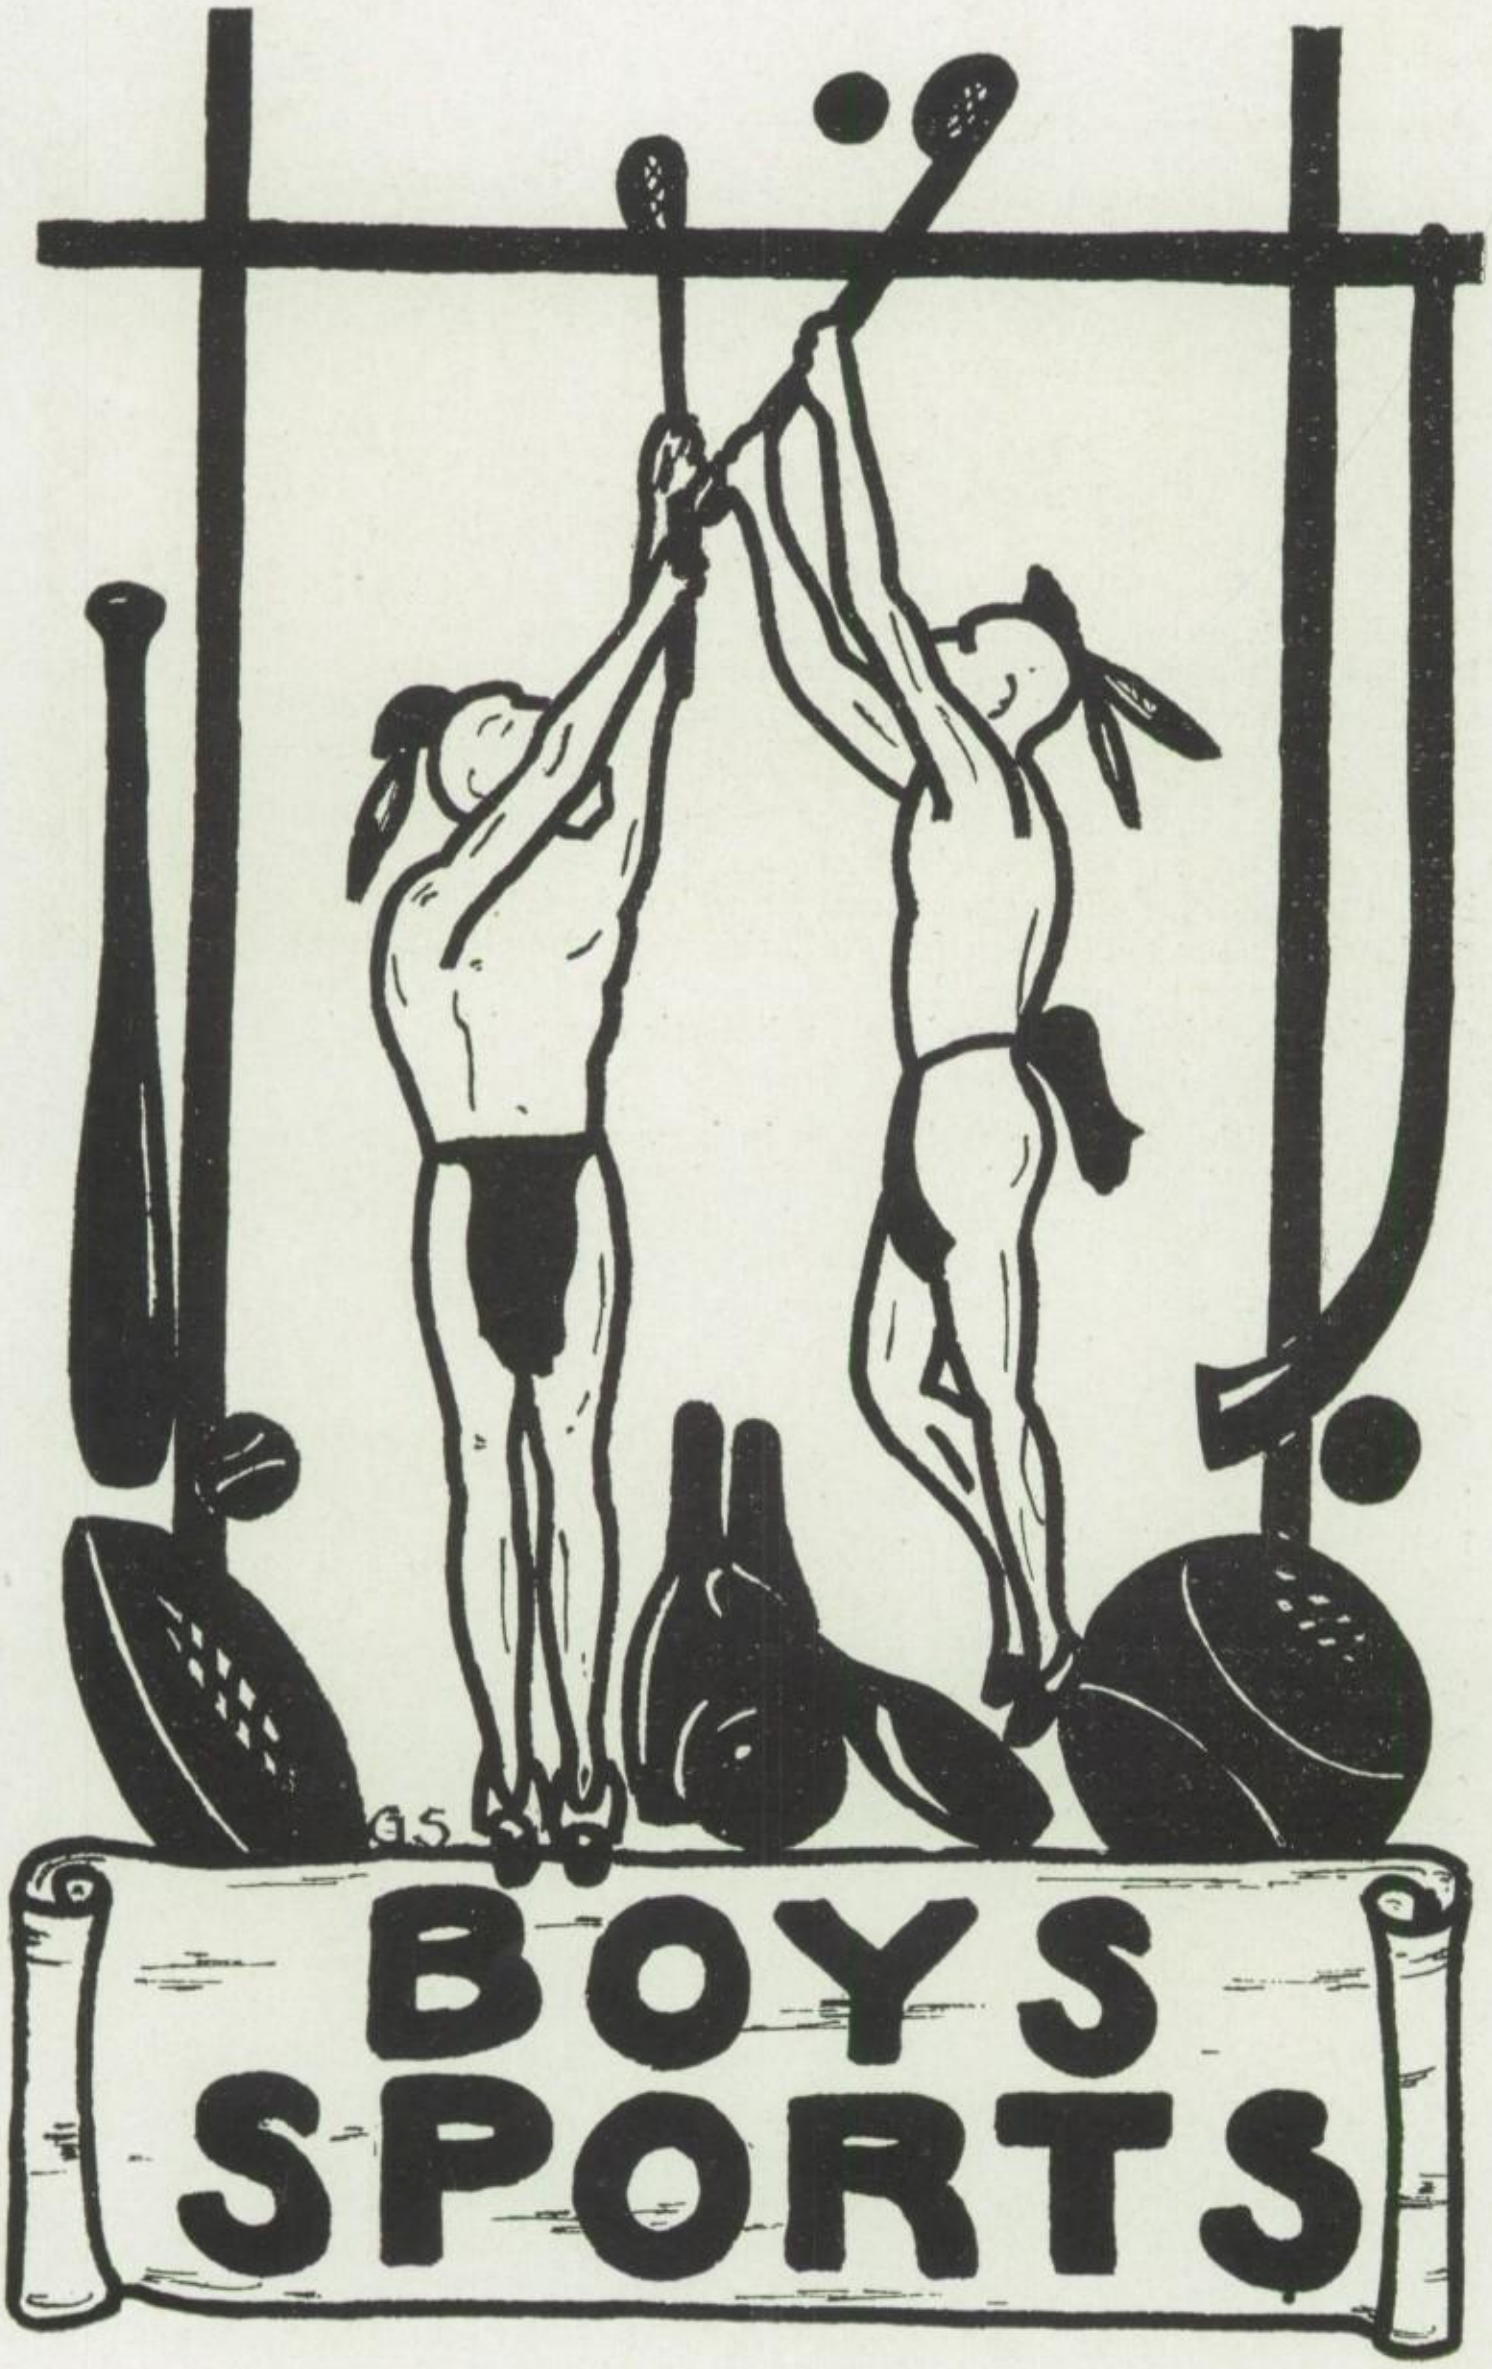
As athletics play an important part in the school curriculum, it is therefore natural that there should be a council governing these sports. This council consists of students elected from each individual sport with their respective coaches. The purpose of this body is to approve of the awarding of letters and numerals, and to better athletics in all ways possible. One of its accomplishments this year has been the awarding of sweaters to both boys and girls who have earned their letters during the year. Not only has this group furthered athletics, but it has also assisted other school activities. Athletics, if supported by the student body, will in turn be able to support these activities.



BOYS
SPORTS

Boys' Sports

With new branches of athletics being constantly introduced, it will not be long before every boy will have the opportunity of participating in his favorite sport. The reorganization of the rifle team, the organizing of a bowling team, and the introduction of Badminton adds to the increasing athletic interests.

The turnout for the various sports has increased notably. A general survey taken shows that forty-eight reported for football, twenty-five for basketball, twenty-three for cross country, one hundred for baseball, forty-five for track, thirty for tennis, ten for golf, thirty for bowling, twenty for the rifle team, and twenty-four for Badminton, making a total of three hundred and fifty-five participants in boys' inter-scholastic competition during the past year. This summary includes only members of the varsity and J. V. squads.

In addition to those taking part in inter-school contests, a program sponsored by Mr. Taylor, which includes an inter-class basketball league, a round robin basketball tournament, and an inter-class baseball league, offers those not on the varsity squads an opportunity to participate in intra-mural contests. A survey shows that approximately one hundred and eighty-two boys took part in these programs. The members of each championship team in each case are awarded numerals.

Summing up the totals of those who took part in either varsity, J. V., or inter-class programs, we find that approximately five hundred and thirty-four boys participated in the school athletic program throughout the year. In major and minor sports the teams completed their seasons with impressive records.

Sweaters awarded to those earning a Major "F" should stimulate student interest, and bring out more candidates for the various major sports. The sponsoring of partial athletic insurance by the Fathers' Club has also helped to create a feeling of financial stability among members of all teams. With many athletic minded undergraduates, the coming year looks very promising.

The 1936 football team completed its season with an impressive record of seven victories, one defeat, and one tie.

Fairfield scored in every game, with the exception of that with Danbury. In this game the "Hat City" team came out on top in the final seconds of play with a score of 6-0.

Fairfield ran up a total of 153 points to the opponents 13.

The other seven points were scored by the Bassick team on Thanksgiving morning, at a game which was the beginning of a long series of annual Turkey day battles to be played with that school.

With the return of six veterans, in addition to the promising J. V.'s, Fairfield rooters are looking forward to the next season with confidence.

Basketball

The Basketball team began its season with four consecutive victories until it met defeat at the hands of a highly acclaimed Warren Harding five. The defeat injected a low spirit into the hearts of many of the local rooters, but the boys came right back to beat Danbury by the score of 28 to 26.

As the season progressed the team showed new life and won 12 games out of 19. The climax of the year came when the boys were invited to perform in two tournaments, the Fairfield County Tournament, and the Yale Tournament. In the County tournament the team drew as its opponent the unbeaten Westport High team. The boys defeated Westport by a score of 27 to 23. This victory automatically entered them in the semi-finals, but lost to Greenwich High, 30 to 29. In the consolation game Fairfield defeated Norwalk by a score of 40 to 22.

The drawings were then made for the Yale tournament, in which Fairfield was pitted against Hillhouse of New Haven, who had been unbeaten in scholastic circles for two years. Unable to cope with the bigger and more experienced players, the team went down to defeat.

With many players scheduled to return, the school is looking forward to a good season next year.

Opening the season with a team consisting mainly of veterans, Fairfield's baseball team is expected to enjoy a good season. At the time of this writing no games have been played.

In addition to the county league games, the team will also meet Harding, Stratford, Milford, and the alumni. At the conclusion of the season eight lettermen will be lost by graduation.

The schedule consisting of twelve games is as follows:

May 21	Darien	April 23	Staples
May 25	Stratford	April 30	New Canaan
May 26	Harding	May 4	Alumni
May 28	Norwalk	May 7	Danbury
June 1	Milford	May 11	Ridgefield

Fourth Row: Spall, Gendron, Oakley, Walters, Beaudin, Yankowski, Parker, Link.
Fifth Row: Parker, Ames, Storrs, Bodd, Tator, Sepot, Sabo, Papp.

The track team, with several lettermen and last year's candidates, in addition to many newcomers, should enjoy a successful season. In addition to its regular schedule, the team is entered in the State Meet held at Yale, the County Scholastic, and the Y. M. C. A. meets. The schedule is as follows:

May 12—Trade.

May 19—Derby.

May 22—Fairfield County Interscholastic Association.

May 26—Westport.

May 29—State Meet.

June 11—New Canaan.

GIRLS'
SPORTS

Girls' Athletics

Girls' athletics occupy an important place in the extra-curricula activities of Roger Ludlowe High School.

In addition to the major sports, basketball, hockey, and baseball, there is also riding, swimming, volley ball, and badminton. Under the supervision of Miss Sleigle, a riding club has been formed which meets once a week. The girls keep themselves in trim by swimming weekly at the Westport Y. M. C. A. In this way they are given the opportunity to learn how to swim, dive, and race as well as to pass their Junior and Senior Life Saving exams.

In addition to basketball, volley ball and badminton tournaments have attracted the attention of many girls during the winter months. Hockey is the most popular sport among the girls as there is a larger turnout for this game than for any other. More benefit is derived from it than from any of the other sports because of the necessity of durability and training.

Baseball and tennis occupy the spring athletic program. An inter-class baseball league is formed, in which the members of the winning team receive additional points toward numeral and letter awards. Although the tennis season is short, several inter-school matches are played as well as the tournament scheduled at the beginning of the fall term.

Girls' awards are based on points earned for all sports rather than excellence in just one sport. It usually takes a girl three years to earn a letter.

Bronze fox pins are awarded to the girls who have earned six points. When 15 points are earned, a silver pin replaces the bronze and then again when 20 points are earned a gold pin is given to the girl. Sweaters are awarded to the girls who have received letters.

This year the hockey team was very proud of its success which was due to their strong preserverance and team work. They played the Milford team twice, being defeated the first time, but winning the second with the overwhelming score of 3-0. The game with Westport was a tie but the game with Hillside was won by Fairfield with the score of 2-0.

We hope that the future teams will uphold the reputation that was formed this year.

Basketball is one of the major sports for girls. The season consists of an inter-school and intra-school schedule.

In the inter-school schedule the varsity plays four games with New Canaan, Westport, Hillside and Norwalk.

The intra-school schedule is a tournament between the four classes. This year, the first time in seven seasons, the freshmen won this tournament.

Although tennis is considered a minor sport it plays an important part in the curriculum of girls' athletics. An average of thirty girls have played this sport, seven of whom are advanced enough to make the squad. To date six matches have been arranged. Two with the strong Westport group, two with New Canaan, and two with Stratford. Judging by the interest shown, a successful season is anticipated.

RIDING

Second Row: LeFevre, Banks, Hill, Pease, Cooke, Patterson, Badeau, Pearson.

NORTHEASTERN UNIVERSITY

College of Liberal Arts

Offers a broad program of college subjects serving as a foundation for the understanding of modern culture, social relations, and technical achievement . The purpose of this program is to give the student a liberal and cultural education and a vocational competence which fits him to enter some specific type of useful employment.

College of Business Administration

Offers a college program with broad and thorough training in the principles of business with specialization in ACCOUNTING, BANKING AND FINANCE or BUSINESS MANAGEMENT. Modern methods of instruction, including lectures, solution of business problems, class discussions, professional talks by business executives, and motion pictures of manufacturing processes, are used.

College of Engineering

Provides complete college programs in Engineering with professional courses in the fields of CIVIL, MECHANICAL (WITH DIESEL, AERONAUTICAL and AIR CONDITIONING OPTIONS), ELECTRICAL, CHEMICAL, INDUSTRIAL ENGINEERING, and ENGINEERNG ADMINISTRATION. General engineering courses are pursued during the freshman year; thus the student need not make a final decision as to which branch of engineering in which he wishes to specialize until the beginning of the sophomore year.

Co-operative Plan

The Co-operative Plan, which is available to upperclassmen in all courses, provides for a combination of practical industrial experience with classroom instruction. Under this plan the student is able to earn a portion of his school expenses as well as to make business contacts which prove valuable in later years.

Degrees Awarded

Bachelor of Arts — Bachelor of Science

COURAGE.

This is the season of the year when the festivities of graduation bring feelings of great joy mingled with deep regrets which come with the severing of years of delightful friendships. Many of the class will continue their studies in the higher institutions of learning; others will step out into the business and commercial life to build their own future. Their paths will not be easy. Their ability, character and integrity will be challenged. It will require courage to meet many conditions which may arise. Let yours be a courage based on determination to win. There is always room for the best. Aim high, shoot straight and don't let your courage falter.

PRINTERS — PUBLISHERS

She's on a Standup STRIKE!

Behold the lady with the standup complex! Afraid to sit because she knows what to expect the moment she starts to rise

She hasn't yet heard of Nu-Back—that marvel of modern foundations that never rides out of place no matter how often you sit or bend.

If your foundations have the riding habit—let us fit you with a Nu-Back girdle, or all-in-one with or without inner-belt, in models exactly suited to your figure.

Sit—and the back lengthens.

Stand—and it returns to normal.

It's the patented backsection that does the trick—adapting the garment to every movement you make without destroying the smooth, smart lines that Nu-Back gives you.

4 Star NuBack Features

- ★ No riding up
- ★ Less slipping of shoulder straps
- ★ Less hosiery strain
- ★ No looseness across diaphragm

Bryant College

Providence, Rhode Island

Beautifully located on campus in exclusive residential district, this outstanding college offers exceptional two-year degree courses in Business Administration, Accountancy, Finance, and Executive Secretarial Training. Also 1-year Intensive Secretarial Courses. Co-ed. Effective Placement Service. Splendid college buildings. Gym. Dormitories. 75th year begins September 8, 1937. Summer Session begins July 6.

A new 4-year Commercial Teacher Training Course approved by the State Director of Education of Rhode Island, will also begin in September. Catalog and Vi[illegible] Book mailed free upon request. Address Director of Admissions, Providence, Rhode Island.

EXCELLENT COURSES OFFERED AT THE BUTLER BUSINESS SCHOOL

Walton Accounting and Intensive Secretarial Training Have Proven Most Popular

Many Fairfield High graduates have taken these courses in the past and are today holding excellent positions.

If you are planning to take a business course after graduation, you will find the opportunities for successful training in the Butler School second to none in the country.

The nationally-known Walton Course in Accounting and Business Administration, the Executive Secretarial Course, High-Speed Secretarial Course and several other minor special courses offer a wide field of choice in preparing for business employment.

You may begin your course in June or July, as soon after graduation as you choose, and thus save time, or you may wait until September. Due to the individual methods of instruction one may begin a course at any time with equal advantages.

Any of our courses may be taken in the regular Day school, which convenes every school day from 8:30 until 1:00, or in our Night sessions, which are held the year around on Monday and Thursday evenings from 6:30 until 9:00.

TUITION RATES:—For all courses in our Day school, except Walton Advanced Accounting, $16 a month; Walton Accounting $18 per month.

For all courses in our Night school, except Walton Advanced Accounting, $6 a month; Walton Accounting $7 per month.

Textbooks and supplies are extra in both sessions.

For complete information, call at the School Office or phone 3-3601.
